UPDATES ABOUT THE PROJECT

The work on the “Climate Cookbook” project continues. Project partners have organized several project and dissemination activities, and the development of the final Climate Cookbook, is almost finalized.

COOKING WORKSHOPS were carried out in March 2024 in Zagreb, Croatia. The workshops were led by Suzy Josipović Redžepagić, and their aim was to introduce participants to the project “Climate Cookbook.”

During the workshop, the participants gained valuable insights into the connection between meat consumption and environmental sustainability.

The workshop served as a platform for fostering awareness and appreciation of sustainable cooking practices among participants, paving the way for future workshops aimed at promoting eco-friendly culinary habits.

Co-funded by the European Union
